

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

AT 6 P. M. yesterday, in old St. Peter's Church, beautifully decorated for the occasion, the wedding of Miss Lucy Clair Errol Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Aaron Atkinson, of No. 811 East Grace Street, to Judge Sidney Johnston Dudley, of Hampton, Va., son of the late Alexander Dudley, of King and Queen counties, was celebrated. The Rev. Augustine Van de Vyver and the Rev. Dr. Magri officiating.

Eight acolytes bearing lighted tapers preceded the bride to the altar, where the groom and his best man, Judge Daniel Grinnan, of Richmond, awaited her. Miss Maudie Randolph was at the organ, and directed the music. The bride came in with her father. She was beautifully robed in white Chiffon lace over chiffon and tulle. Her veil fell from a duchess lace coronet, and was held by a diamond tiara, the bride's gift of the groom. She also wore a family heirloom, a pair of diamond earrings, and a necklace of pearls. The bride's bouquet was a large one, and she carried it with her. The bride's train was long and full of lace and tulle. The bride's shoes were white and lace. The bride's hair was styled in waves. The bride's face was pale and beautiful. The bride's eyes were blue and bright. The bride's smile was sweet and charming. The bride's personality was graceful and elegant. The bride's wedding was a beautiful and memorable occasion.

Miss Ethel Walker Atkinson, the maid of honor, was gowned in white lace over white tulle, with touches of blue mesaline and insets of pastel passementerie. She wore a blue albatross hat with a large bow, and a kyspy hat filled with pink roses. Two little flower girls, Miss Margaret Atkinson Dudley and Miss Virginia Atkinson, were dressed in white and blue, and the latter in blue accented with white. They wore blue slippers and stockings, and blue Du Barry bows on their hair and long-handled baskets of pink rosebuds in their hands.

Mrs. H. A. Atkinson, the bride's mother, had on soft white satin, trimmed with honiton lace and embroidery, and worn with diamond and emerald ornaments. The ushers were Dr. Marmaduke Atkinson, Messrs. Alexander Dudley, of Newport News; B. Lynch Montague and William A. Cooke, of Richmond; C. Vernon Sprattley, of Hampton, and Otis H. Bland, of Newport News. The ceremony was followed by a reception at 6 o'clock in the Jefferson Hotel. Judge and Mrs. Dudley will spend their honeymoon abroad.

Richmonders at Plaza.
Richmond society people have been loyal to the attractions of New York as a summer resort, judging from the number seen on the avenue during the past week and dining in the hotels. The arrivals from Richmond at the Hotel Plaza included Mr. George W. Stevens, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway; Mr. Henry W. Anderson, Mr. Fritz Stittinger, Mrs. E. Millhiser, Master E. Ross Millhiser, Miss Rosalie Millhiser, Mr. Decatur Astor and Mr. A. Trevett. Mr. Stevens entertained at a dinner, giving in the new summer garden at the Hotel Plaza, which is a marvel of beauty.

Mattox-Howells.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Dun can was the scene of a quiet marriage Tuesday evening, July 7th, at 9 o'clock, when their daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Dun can Howells, became the bride of Mr. Walter Mattox, of Leesville, Campbell county, Va. The bride party entered the handsomely decorated parlor to the strains of the wedding march, delightfully rendered by Mrs. H. H. Hancock, and the ceremony was impressively performed by the Rev. S. Lynn, of the Baptist Church. Only a few intimate friends and relatives were present; among them were Mr. E. G. Owen and wife, Miss Minnie Mattox, of Leesville; Mr. J. O. L. Goggin, of Lynchburg; Mr. W. W. Dinwiddie and wife, of Henric; Mr. A. B. Garrett, of Rocky Mount; and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hancock, Miss Mattie Duncan and Mr. Oscar Divers, of Halesford.

Fourth at Edgeview.
While visiting Old Point, Mr. and Mrs. Parrish, of this city, went to spend the Fourth of July with Miss Brooke Byrd, of White Hall, Gloucester county.

They and their hostess were present at a celebration of the Fourth, given by Mr. and Mrs. James Farmer, of Edgeview, Gloucester, and was rendered especially brilliant and beautiful by a fine display of fireworks.

Sour Stomach

Belching of gas, sour risings in the throat, pain after eating, a general feeling of heaviness, irritability, these are conditions which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills correct.

"I had a distressed feeling after eating, often followed by terrible vomiting spells," says Mrs. William Duely, of 43 Lucas avenue, Kingston, N. Y., "and became subject to deadly sick headaches. I was constantly belching gas in my efforts to relieve my stomach. I was in this condition for nearly three and a half years, although I tried a number of doctors. I was discouraged with them all, when I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A few boxes helped me wonderfully. I continued their use until cured and have had no signs of stomach trouble since."

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] DANVILLE, Va., July 13.—Mr. George W. Page, who has been for many years a widely known and highly esteemed citizen of Danville, died last night at 10:20 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. E. Shaw, on Patton Street. Mr. Page had been in declining health for the past four years.

The deceased was born in Farmville, Va., on January 16, 1842, being the son of Mr. George W. and Rachel E. Page. In 1861 he moved to this city, and in August the following year entered the service of the Confederate Army, serving under Captain Barlow in the Tenth Virginia Regiment. He was a gallant soldier, and remained in the army until the close of the struggle. He returned to Danville, where he entered in the mercantile business. For the past thirty years he had been connected with the clothing establishment of J. and E. Kaufman.

For many years Mr. Page has been prominently identified with the local orders of Knights of Pythians and the Odd Fellows.

While a young man Mr. Page joined the Farmville Baptist Church, and never had his membership transferred. He died in full Christian faith.

In 1863 Mr. Page married Miss Hill, of Lynchburg, Va., who preceded him to the grave in January, 1900. The following children survive: Mr. H. T. Page, of Charlotte, N. C.; Mr. E. N. Page, of Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. C. W. Staley, and Mrs. J. E. Shaw, of Danville.

The funeral services will be conducted from the residence of Mr. Shaw on Patton Street tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Rev. W. S. Brooke, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, of the Church of Epiphany, will officiate. Interment will be made in Green Hill Cemetery.
